HERRMANN MAKES FIRST STATEMENT IN CONTROVERSY

Says O'Rourke Letter May Put Pulliam Right.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 25.-For the first time, Chairman Garry Herrmann, of the National Baseball Commission, yestermulgated widely a few days ago on the part of President Pulliam, of the National League.

Said Mr. Herrmann: "I am absolutey certain that President Pulliam is taken in his remarks about the National Association, about me and everyody else. I am no turncoat, because I evidence in my letter files which onvinces me that the National Assoiation did not act discourteously ward the National Commission nor toward the National Commission nor Harry Pulliam."

President Hermann showed letters written by O'Rourke, father of the resolution which has caused so much trouble which apparently showed that Pulliam should have entered the National Commission meeting, held this month, with a full knowledge of the intentions of the National Association.

Chicago Writer Unearths Some Striking Facts

The squabble has developed the fact that some departments of the National Association are loosely conducted. In the Chicago Tribune of January 19 Sanborn, a leading Western writer iscloses the following facts: The controversy between Presiden nember of the national commission, and ssociation, over the existence or non-one of two things will be discov Either the minor leagues do no This is not the first time the record Secretary Farrell have been open to ssen's major league career temporty, perhaps permanently.

Then the commission took up the effective secretary farrell found a suspenagainst the player on his records, the Eau Claire club failed to prove any contract with the player, and was declared a free agent. In the was declared a free agent. In the antime he had lost his chance with ston. The question arises, Did Secary Farrell overlook the suspension Asmussen at first, or was it added his records subsequently? One or other supposition must be true. In the recare injury has been done a playwho was trying to be on the square ascertaining his exact status in base-if from a supposedly reliable source.

Olympic Notes

in the Clympic regatta by the fact that

This makes it particularly hard for the American Olympic committee on rowing. President James Pilkington. of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, and Julian W. Curtiss, to de-some high-class oarsmen around Washington.—New York Tribune.

Louis F. Scholes, the Canadian, who won the Diahond Sculls at Henley in 1904, over F. S. Kelly, the holder, in 8 minutes 23 1-5 seconds, will train this year in inticipation of competing in the Olympic regatta. He tried twice before capturing the coveted trophy, his first effort being made in 1902, when he was defeated in the first heat by Constance S. Titus, of the Nonparell Rowing Club.

A college man suggested the other day that the best way to decide whether the better crew comes from a college or a rowing club was to hold a regatta at some convenient place, say, Carnegie lake, at Princeton, and invite the colleges and clubs to send their eights.

The contests would probably have to be divided into heats and the survivor would undoubtedly be the strongest crew. The course should be laid off at the Henley distance—one mile and 500 yards. The water on Carnegie lake is much like that at Henley. This rowing oxpert considers it the height of folly to select eight of the best oarsmen in the country and then boat them as a crew, for their divergent methods and styles would most surely invite defeat.

SENSATIONAL END FOR MATCH RACE

Sheppard Narrowly Escapes Mob Violence for Fouling Haskins.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 25. - What bromised to be one of the most sensalonal indoor match races in athletic First Regiment Armory by the hotheaded temper of Meivin W. Sheppard, of the Irish-American Club, New York.

Haskins led at the erack of the pistol, and Sheppard passed him on the aside of the track on the third lap. The great middle-distance runner ran the turn of the sixth lap wide, and Haskins made a spurt and tried to pass him on the inside. Sheppard elbowed him away, and Haskins used a stiff arm for protection. Immediately Sheppard grabbed him around the neck and WANTED—Three waitresses. RADY CAFE, 669 Pennsylvania ave. nw. ja25-3t WANTED—A respectable girl to do genera threw him to the floor.

Free-for-All Fight.

A free-for-all fight ensued, which was ickly quelled by the police, and Sheppard, who was disqualified by Referee Orton, was taken to his dressing room

A half dozen Pennsylvania students an to Haskins' rescue and one struck rowd. The presence of several stalvart reserve officers soon quieted the nner suffering bodily harm he was Trainer Mike Murphy, of the Pennsylpard's action on Haskins that he stated he would never sanction another race with the New Yorker. The Amateur Athletic Union is very strict in disciplining such offenders, and the chances are that it will go hard with Sheppard.
